Four driven wheels
from one very driven company.

Superb handling, increased power to the wheels and handling that is beyond compare – Audi quattro® is the standard by which all other all-wheel drive systems are measured. And why shouldn't they? It has proven itself all over the world winning world championships. But that's really just the beginning as we continue to refine quattro®.

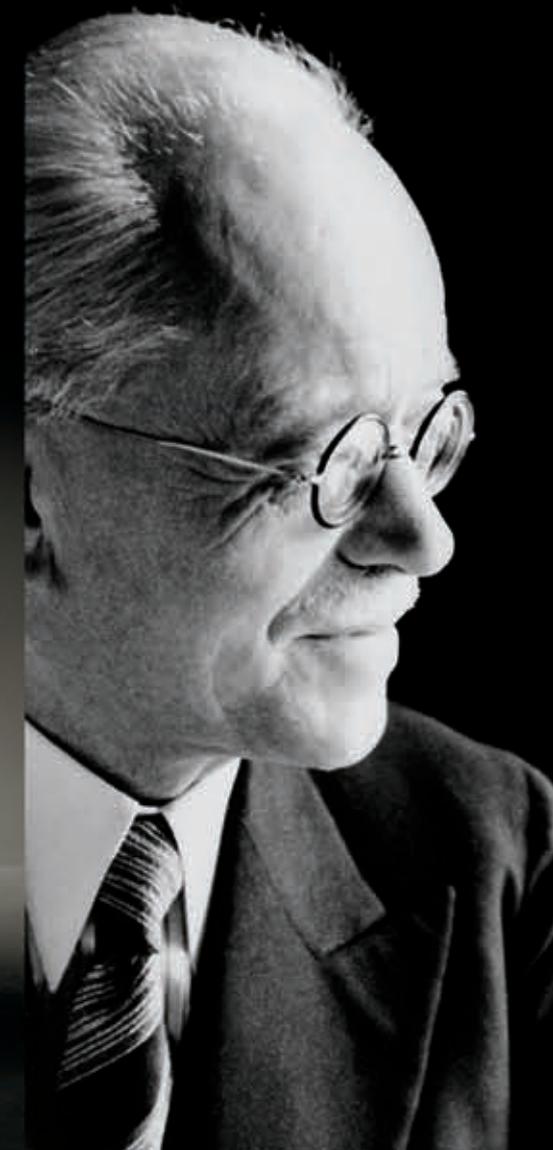

The smooth, easy road reveals nothing and teaches less. We not only pursue the difficult, we strive to achieve the impossible. Starting with our founder August Horch nearly a hundred years ago, it was clear we would chart our own course. A course that has gone on to span both generations and centuries. It's a course that's deeply embedded in our collective DNA. It's also a course that has led to a number of remarkable developments. Developments that have revealed new truths. New truths like a diesel powered car capable of winning Le Mans, not once, but three consecutive times. Or that quattro® for all of its sophistication, simply equals confidence. They are truths that guide every aspect of every automobile we craft.

And you, of course, are the inevitable beneficiary of more than a century of wisdom and an infinite number of truths.

Welcome to where the truth is.

Welcome to Truth in Engineering.
