

Model shown: S2000

The Honda S2000 has been born out of single-mindedness. A pure-bred roadster that's been forged by the challenge of racing discipline rather than roadside chic. Revised for 2004 with an even more aggressive sporting look, the S2000 possesses a remarkable, award winning 2.0 VTEC engine that red-lines at 9,000 rpm and produces more power per litre than any other non-turbo production engine. The resulting energy is transferred to the road via a short throw six speed gearbox, a super rigid chassis, double wishbone suspension and specially designed tyres that delivers precision handling to excite the most demanding of drivers. Press the red start button on the dashboard to fire up the engine and you'll soon realise why Auto Express called the S2000 "one of the most intoxicating sports cars on the market."
