The Audi Q7

The Audi Q7 combines all the rugged energy of an SUV with the looks and high performance of a sports coupé. As the ultimate expression of quattro® permanent all-wheel-drive, it's designed to take you off the beaten track and beyond – helped by a choice of highly-developed engines. They provide acceleration not normally associated with an SUV and efficiency that's even more remarkable. It's made possible by advanced FSI® and TDI® technology, which use direct fuel injection to make the most of every drop of fuel, and our new clean diesel technology, which you can read more about on page 7.

But there's more to the Audi Q7 than the raw power of its engines. It also includes a redesigned front grille, new door mouldings and restyled bumpers with under-body protection, while its distinctive LED lights blend seamlessly into the new tailgate. Inside, you can now take advantage of the latest HDD navigation and entertainment system, which is capable of displaying exceptionally-detailed, high-resolution 3D maps. And with space for 6 passengers and up to 2,035 litres of luggage capacity in the rear, there's little room left for improvement.

Engines

Petrol

V6 3.6 FSI and V8 4.2 FSI

All Audi Q7 petrol engines feature FSI® direct-injection – a unique Audi technology originally developed for the Le Mans 24-hour endurance race to deliver increased power and torque as well as enhanced fuel efficiency. The way it does this is, in theory, very simple. Precisely the right amount of fuel and air are injected directly into the combustion chambers, enabling the engine to ‘breathe’ more easily. At the same time, electronics monitor the engine load and adjust the injection process. The result – reduced heat-loss and increased output, with around a 15% reduction in fuel consumption and significantly lower exhaust emissions. Ideal for the buyer who wants a sporty, exhilarating drive without the drawbacks of excessive fuel costs or higher emissions.

Diesel

V6 3.0 TDI and V8 4.2 TDI

All diesel engines from Audi are known as TDI. This impressive technology was originally pioneered by Audi in 1989, marking a departure from the noisy, fuel-thirsty diesel engines of the past. Like its FSI petrol counterpart, the TDI diesel engine is designed for power and performance, with low fuel consumption and CO₂ emissions. All Audi Q7 TDI engines are based on the common rail system. Here, fuel is stored and kept at constant pressures of up to 600 bar, ready to feed a series of highly-accurate piezo injectors, which control the rate and point of injection.

3.0 TDI clean diesel

Clean and diesel. The two words may not sound like natural partners, but our advances over the years have made it possible. The 3.0 TDI engine available in the Audi Q7 features two new technologies – a DeNOx catalytic converter and AdBlue® tank – which help to make it one of the cleanest-running diesel cars available today.

The AdBlue® tank contains a biodegradable additive which is injected in tiny doses upstream of the DeNOx catalytic converter, where it breaks down harmful nitrogen oxides into plain nitrogen and water. This cuts nitrogen oxide emissions by up to 90 percent, meaning that the Audi Q7 3.0 TDI clean diesel quattro® already complies with the EU 6 emissions standard planned for 2014.

Transmission

tiptronic

The 6-speed tiptronic transmission system is a form of automatic transmission standard on all Audi Q7 models. The technology incorporates DSP – or the Dynamic Shift Programme which aligns and converts the engine's high power and torque into both sporty performance and operating convenience, with crisp, fast gear changes, reduced weight and optimised gearshifting.

In the 'D' (Drive) and 'S' (Sport) programme, the advanced electronics used in tiptronic respond efficiently to every driver input, helping to prevent unwanted gear-changes. The driver can override automatic mode by moving the gear lever into a tiptronic shift-gate, enabling spontaneous gear-changing for a sportier driving style.

Permanent all-wheel-drive

It's the technology that has given Audi the edge on the racetrack ever since it was first introduced over 25 years ago – a technology that delivers ultimate control whilst enhancing the sporty characteristics which make the Audi Q7 so thrilling to drive. It's called quattro® permanent all-wheel-drive. The principle is simple: in the same way that four brakes ensure better deceleration, four permanently-driven wheels deliver better acceleration and road-holding, pushing or pulling the car as needed, for a driving experience that's both dynamic and safe. In the Audi Q7, asymmetric-dynamic torque distribution continuously distributes drive power between the front and the rear axles depending on weather conditions, road surface and gradient, which increases flexibility for an enhanced, sportier drive.

Every Audi is intrinsically exclusive. It's the breathtaking design, the exceptional engineering, the Vorsprung durch Technik. But for that added element of exclusivity – that distinguishing look that sets you apart from the rest – you can specify your Audi Q7 with options from Audi exclusive. Whether you want a unique, custom-mixed paint colour, seats in a combination of complementary shades or even individualised carpets and floor mats, Audi exclusive will enable you to drive the car you've always imagined.

For more information on any of the options over the following pages or to view swatches, simply ask a member of staff at your local Audi Centre.

Upholstery

With Audi exclusive, you can choose between Fine Nappa leather and Alcantara, depending on the texture and flexibility you prefer in your car's upholstery. And once that's decided, you can specify your seats in an array of different colours.

Choose just one all-over shade for each seat, or for a sportier look, customise each panel in two or more complementary colours from the distinctive Audi exclusive palette shown here. You can even choose the colour of the decorative stitching – to match or contrast with your chosen upholstery – from this varied collection. Whatever combination you decide upon, you're guaranteed to be extremely comfortable with the result.

Audi Servicing

Servicing tailored to your needs

Prior to the 2000 model year, almost all Audi models followed a traditional fixed Service Schedule similar to that of other major car manufacturers: a Lubrication Service every 10,000 miles and an Inspection Service every 12 months or 20,000 miles – whichever occurred sooner. Since then, Audi has introduced a more flexible maintenance system that works in accordance with how, where and how often you use your car.

The two Servicing Regimes available are the conventional 'Inspection Service Regime' and the flexible 'LongLife Service Regime'. When you purchase a new car, we will recommend one of these regimes to you depending on your own individual driving style and journey type. The tables below should give you an indication of which regime might be more appropriate for you.

With the LongLife Service Regime, on-board sensors continuously monitor the condition of the engine oil in terms of temperature, level and oil degradation. The monitoring system also checks mileage, brake-pad wear and battery condition. Using this information, the car's on-board

Inspection Service Schedule

Vehicle usage:
Mileage	Less than 10,000* miles per annum
Type of journey	Mainly city/town centre driving. Short journeys
Conditions	Frequent cold starts. High engine loading – e.g. frequent hill climbs, vehicle fully loaded, towing
Driving style	Uneconomical – e.g. heavy acceleration, heavy braking, constant changes in speed, constant use of high revs, 'sporty' driving

Service intervals:
Oil-change Service	Fixed to every 10,000* miles/1 year
Inspection Service	Fixed to every 20,000* miles/2 years

computer calculates its own maintenance interval, providing you with ample warning of a due service via the 'distance to service' display.

In practice, this means that every Audi gets the maintenance it needs, when it needs it. For companies and private owners alike, there are many advantages to the LongLife Service Regime. Longer service intervals mean lower maintenance costs, and thus lower whole-life costs. According to company car mileage monitored at Audi since the introduction of LongLife, petrol engines are typically achieving an average of at least 17,500 miles and diesel engines around 20,000 miles between services.

One of the factors that makes this kind of servicing regime possible is the advanced engineering and technology that goes into Audi engines. Furthermore, Audi use high-grade long-life oils such as Castrol SLX LongLife III, which are designed to withstand ageing and high loads without deterioration. Compared to conventional oils, these advanced-formulation oils also give exceptional levels of engine protection, are kinder to the environment and deliver average fuel savings of 2.7%.

LongLife Service Regime

Vehicle usage:
Mileage	More than 30 miles per day
Type of journey	Motorway and main road driving. Mainly longer distance journeys. Constant speeds
Conditions	Normal engine loading – e.g. with little or no towing, with little or no hill climbs. Normal vehicle loading
Driving style	Moderate acceleration, moderate braking, engine revs mainly below 3,000

Service intervals:
Inspection Service	Variable to a maximum of every 20,000* miles/2 years

* As indicated by the service interval display. Mileages are approximate as the Service Indicator system uses kilometres as its distance measurement.

 Always includes an oil change.
