Driver comforts

The best type of technology is that which you hardly notice...

The multiplexed wiring on the New Partner Combi, for example, reliably centralises all relevant information, making everything from the vehicle speed variable intermittent wipers to the dimming of the interior lights react at the touch of a button. Then there are the ergonomically designed steering controls, optional cruise control and variable power steering for easier driving, while the information screen and optional air conditioning keep you informed and comfortable. Put all of this together and you have a car that delivers every time.

Just one look at the new dashboard and you'll know this is a vehicle built for leisure. As well as several storage compartments, you can also tell the time and radio frequency on the digital screen in the central console. For increased comfort, the newly designed height adjustable steering wheel has a reduced diameter and gives you better grip while the 4-dial instrument panel is even easier to read, with a rev counter and oil level gauge as standard.

For those extra creature comforts, the audio functions can be adjusted using remote controls situated on the right driver stalk whilst on the left stalk the optional cruise control* function is available. A “Guide me home” headlight function gives you a 60 second headlight delay after exiting the car, and the immobiliser makes sure the car's still there in the morning. Even if you forget where you've parked, the vehicle localisation feature will soon help you find it.
