Discover a new Toyota designed from the inside out.

And around you

There's no more refreshing place to be than in the Toyota Auris TR. That's because every minute detail of this new Toyota has been carefully thought through. The result is a car that's been designed from the inside out. And, most importantly, with a driver's needs in mind.

From its arresting exterior to its welcoming interior and from its innovative use of space to its sporty performance, Auris TR simply has more thoughtful, well-conceived features. Which means more rewards for you as a driver.

Everything just feels right

Behind the wheel of the Auris TR, you can't help but notice just how intuitive every part of its design is. Quite apart from cabin area previously unmatched in a car of its class, you'll find clever use of space, like an overhead console you can use to store sunglasses*. Most striking of all, however, is a stylish silver contoured bridged central console that brings together essential controls like the gear lever and handbrake – to create an easier, more accessible and more ergonomic way of driving. It's as if the Auris TR is in tune with your every move.

Driver friendly power

Out on the road, you'll relish the performance provided by a 1.6 litre manual (or MultiMode) VVT-i petrol or a 2.0 litre D-4D diesel engine. Quick-to-respond power is yours to control, and superb road handling enhances your sense of exhilaration.

* Petrol only.

A sophisticated choice

The Auris TR is equipped with many high value features to complement its outstanding design. Its 6-speaker radio/CD system also plays MP3s and, for ease of use, control switches for the system are built in to the steering wheel. The interior feels even more premium, courtesy of the fact the steering wheel is leather covered, as is the gear shift knob itself. You'll also find power windows, coloured electric wing mirrors and door handles, engine immobiliser, remote double locking and easy-to-read Optitron meter displays. As for safety, there are no less than nine airbags, including curtain and knee airbags.

Of course, Auris TR is just as pleasing on the eye too, with sculpted front fog lamps and fluid body styling. So you'll be glad to know its features also include scuff plates and a rear chrome trim to keep the vehicle looking just as impressive as it drives.

Whether you opt for a three- or a five-door version, you can feel assured the Auris TR is the car designed from the inside out. And offers you an abundance of rewards as a driver.
