Introducing the all-new 2007 Elantra. Continuing Elantra's reputation for quality and reliability, this next generation Elantra has refined its performance; redesigned its lines with curvaceous yet elegant styling; added room to its cabin; and enhanced its sophistication to bring the latest in luxury and safety technology within the reach of all Australians.

Some things are meant to be enjoyed by everyone.

A Balanced Drive

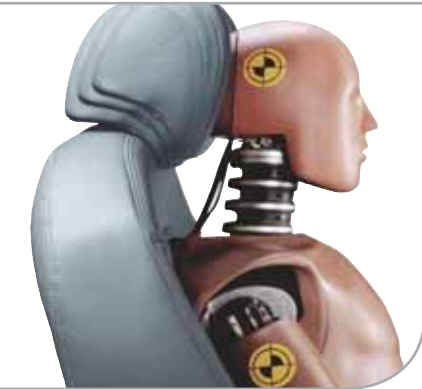

With looks to thrill and a personality to match, the all-new Elantra turns any road into a runway. Redesigned with your lifestyle in mind, Elantra's design philosophy combines practicality with a modern, assertive elegance complemented by a host of unexpected extras.

This harmonious combination delivers the perfect balance of enhanced performance, superior safety and unprecedented comfort. Whatever your destination, Elantra will take you there in style.

Integrity. Stability. Protection.

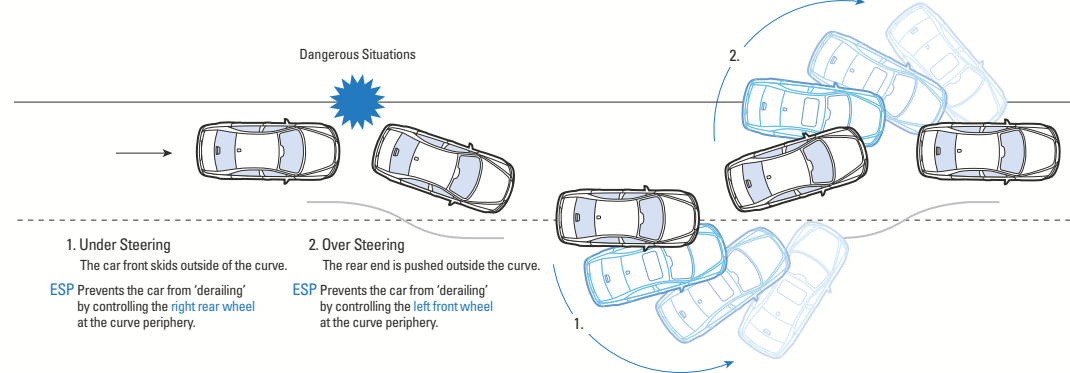

Elantra gives you world-class safety technology including a reinforced chassis with thicker cross-members & up to 6 airbags.*

Front active headrests offer superior whiplash protection.

Electronic Stability Program (ESP) provides superior control.

An Even Safer Drive

Sometimes, it's the features you can't see that allow you to approach every turn with supreme confidence. The ultimate in avoidance and survival technology places new Elantra at the forefront of safety in its class. And it's the focus on improving the basics, as well as utilising new technologies that gives Elantra the edge in safety.

Elantra's highly capable 4 wheel disc brakes provide even more bite with beefier 275mm front ventilated discs and 262mm rear solid discs. When combined with the Anti-skid Braking System (ABS), the introduction of the Electronic Stability Program (ESP) and Traction Control System (TCS)* means you'll be in even more control on the road. ESP is a cutting-edge driving stability system which, along with ABS and TCS, improves handling by controlling brake pressure and engine output during abrupt turns at speed and during acceleration and braking, particularly on low friction surfaces and in wet conditions. The acronym may be more than a coincidence. In reality, ESP virtually reads the road and is increasingly credited as a major factor in the reduction of single car collisions.

Occupant protection is boosted with a series of structural reinforcements designed to more effectively absorb impact momentum. Front 'active' headrests, which offer superior whiplash prevention in the event of a rear impact come standard, while up to 6 airbags* and front seatbelt pre-tensioning further improve occupant protection levels.

Into Gear

The automatic transmission has a new step gate lever which simplifies shifting. Revised programming and a slimmer, lighter torque converter and more efficient lock-up system help cut fuel consumption and smooth out gear changes. This transmission features the technology of HiVec (Hyundai intelligent Vehicle electronic control) which literally means it learns to adapt to your driving style and provides enhanced gear selection to suit.

The manual transmission improves durability and lowers noise, vibration and harshness thanks to new ground-surface finished gears.

A Rewarding Drive

Experience a car that loves the road, adapts to the way you drive and reduces fuel pump anxiety.

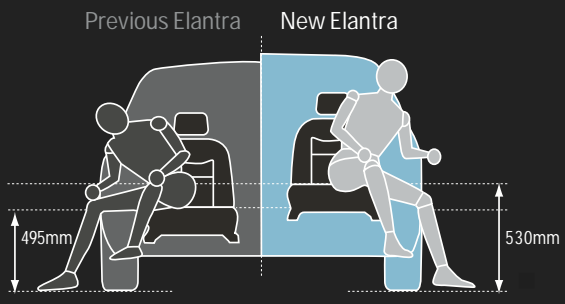

All-new Elantra is designed for optimum performance without sacrificing fuel efficiency. In fact, like everything else in Elantra, we've improved it. Even with maximum power (105kW) greater than many of its competitors, Elantra's advanced Series 3 engine featuring Constantly Variable Valve Technology (CVVT), delivers even lower fuel consumption than ever, with a combined average of 7.4L/100km for manual and 7.8L/100km for automatic.* So now you can own a car that's engineered to perform and is as economical as it is stylish. Reward yourself with all-new Elantra and enjoy driving again.

* Source Australian Design Rule 81/01 static laboratory combined average city & highway cycle test. Fuel consumption will vary depending on a combination of driving habits and condition of the vehicle.

Seen but seldom heard.

Whether you're running around town or cruising the open road, the combination of the CVVT high performance engine; the smooth transmission and our advanced Torsion-Blade independent rear suspension, means Elantra delivers a smoother, more comfortable and quieter ride.

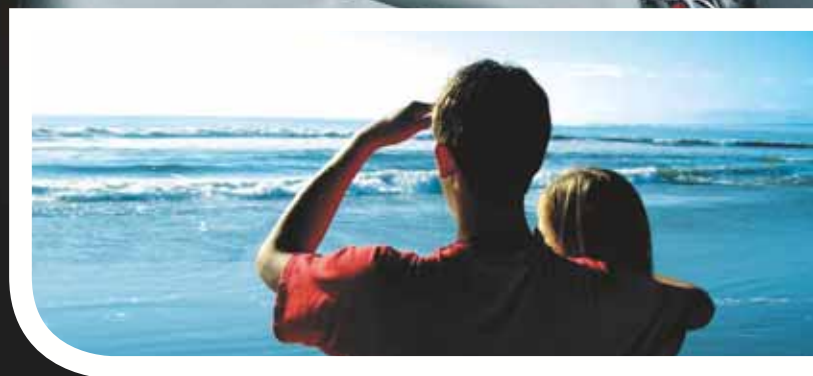

Ease of access as comfortable as the drive.

With class leading interior space and design you'll be spending less time and effort getting in and out of new Elantra. We've given the front seats a lift to improve visibility and ease of entry and exit, while front hip and shoulder room, front head and leg room and rear shoulder room have all been expanded, which means Elantra has room for all, even in the rear.

The Big Small Car

We've put everything into new Elantra, because we know you'll put everything into Elantra too.

The Elantra's more generous interior is a luxurious mobile habitat. It combines a previously unachievable amount of ergonomically-superior space with intuitively-placed design features. Tactile textures and rich colours, audio and air conditioning placement and the softly-lit, blue-imbued instrument panel, all contribute to a highly sophisticated cabin experience.

Like a classic suit, the new Elantra is tailor-made to fit you. Comfortable and versatile seating includes driver's seat height adjustment, four-stage adjustable front headrests and two-stage in the rear, 60/40 split fold-down rear seatbacks revealing an aperture of sizeable dimensions for accommodating long and relatively wide cargo items, and a huge boot that's been enlarged over the previous model.

A Luxurious Drive

New Elantra is a showpiece of global driving technology, exterior style and consummate cabin luxury. With its svelte, curvaceous body available in a distinctively refreshing new palette of seductive colours, a sumptuously-appointed, enlarged interior and additional world-class safety features, Elantra will have you looking as good as it feels.

We've also included the little extras you'll want to make every drive relaxed and easy. From the fingertip controlled audio and cruise control systems and sensual leather finished steering wheel (excluding SX), twin front vanity mirrors and retractable roof mounted sunglasses holder to 12V power outlets and the auxiliary connection for your MP3 player, our range of added luxury features are designed to enhance your driving experience in a way that only the new Elantra can.

That experience is here now and ready to drive your way.
