

1 Go power. Two V8's ...a stronger 5 litre.

Go power? This is the car. Monaro GTS gets its pull from a 4.2 litre V8. Or you can order a throaty optional 5 litre V8.

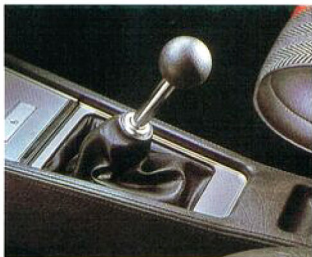

The 4.2, which comes with 4-speed manual transmission, is rated at 175 horsepower (130 kW). The 5 litre at 250 horses (186 kW)!

2 Four on the floor.

Your manual four on the floor transmission is all synchromesh, of course.

Optional automatic for the 4.2 litre is the smooth, well proven Tri-matic system, with T-bar shift. With the optional 5 litre model you get smooth, silky Turbo-Hydramatic transmission.

3 Long distance sports buckets.

Monaro GTS beckons you inside to deeply moulded, full foam, reclining bucket seats. These are designed on orthopaedic principles. They help you to arrive at your destination, no matter how distant, more relaxed.

They are built of highly resilient foam containing thousands of tiny air cells that give gently to your shape.

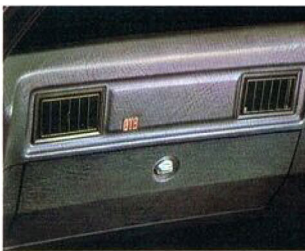

Seats that put comfort ahead of everything yet offer you a driver's driving position.

You get a centre console with a padded arm-rest. Full, deep-pile carpet and footwell lights.

4 Cool idea...power boosted fresh air.

Even when you're stationary, the powered ventilation in your Monaro GTS pulls in fresh air.

When on the move, you get additional air from the ram jet flow-through ventilation system. Or you can equip your car with optional fully integrated air conditioning.

5 Bumpers that beat the bingles.

Expensive repairs from those little bingles that push bumpers onto body panels are cut down.

On Monaro GTS the bumpers are spaced well away from the bodywork. Their brackets are designed to help absorb minor damage.
