The ideal multi-purpose vehicle:

With its flat loading platform and its double cabin it caters for two basically different transport needs. The sides and tailgate of the platform, which is at ramp level, are separately hinged, so it can be loaded easily from all sides in a matter of minutes. There is room for six people on the comfortably upholstered benches in the driver's and passengers' cabins, and no temperature troubles either—the standard heating and the vent wings will keep both the cabins just as warm or cool as you like. There is a built-in chest under the rear bench which will hold apparatus, tools, ropes, cables, chains, etc.

What about delicate or valuable goods?

No, we haven't forgotten them, either. It won't take you a moment to remove the rear bench and the tool chest, and then you can lock away any valuable goods, or goods which must be handled with special care in the rear cabin. Your fruit and vegetables, flowers and plants won't freeze—expensive instruments, measuring devices, work material are safe from long fingers!

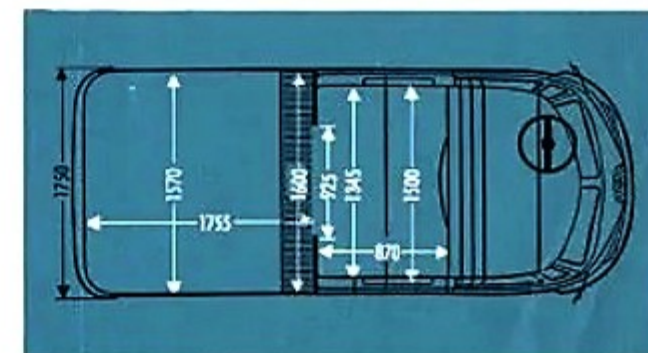

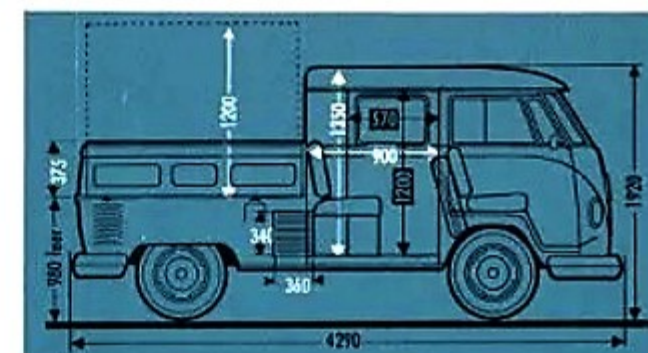

Voted "the tops" by . . .

Installation, maintenance, building and harvesting squads—in fact by all those who have to take tools, machines and spare parts with them to their work. The right men with the right tools can be right on the spot at the right time—think of the advantages for power and electricity companies, transformer stations, gas and water works. This vehicle is a boon and a blessing to civil engineering contractors, road inspection authorities, horticultural firms, municipal park and cemetery authorities. No more hitches or hold ups, no time wasted. Drive a VW Pick-up with a double cabin—it saves time and effort, you can take last minute changes of plan in your stride, and above all you'll find you never knew a vehicle could be so economical!
