

1999 Subaru Outback Sedan

Coming This Summer. The World's First Sport-Utility Sedan.

Imagine a car with the versatility and ruggedness of an All-Wheel Drive sport-utility... and the comfort and convenience of a refined sedan. Imagine that combination... and you have the Subaru Outback Sedan... an exciting new vehicle to match your love of driving freedom. • This bold sport-utility sedan features the Subaru All-Wheel Driving System that integrates three key components for outstanding driving control on virtually every road surface in all sorts of weather. A horizontally-opposed boxer engine, full-time All-Wheel Drive and long travel 4-Wheel independent suspension. All without flipping a lever or pushing a button. • The new Subaru Outback Sedan lets you take on the great outdoors. The 4-Wheel disc brakes with 4-channel Anti-Lock Braking System and power rack and pinion steering offer superior handling control. And a 165-hp, 2.5 litre, boxer engine, matched with a 4-speed electronic automatic transmission, delivers plenty of power on-road and off. • The Outback Sedan also provides a great indoors. You will find air conditioning, premium sound system including a CD player, cassette and weather band radio, power windows and door locks, cruise control, overhead map lights, and a Cold Weather Package consisting of heated leather seats, mirrors and a windshield wiper de-icer, all standard. • No longer do you have to compromise sedan sophistication or sport-utility freedom. Owning the new Subaru Outback Sedan, you actually can have it all.

NOTES

<sup>1</sup> The Supplemental Restraint System (air bag) affords the driver and front passenger additional protection in a frontal collision. This system provides supplemental protection only, and seat belts must be worn in order to avoid injuries to out-of-position occupants upon bag deployment and provide the best combined protection in a serious accident. Children should always be properly restrained in the rear seat.
